3 Every day is an adventure when you're a child - create simple games for daily tasks.	4 Play with measuring cups in the bathtub.	5 Explore outdoors - look at leaves or trees without them. Point out birds and other animals.	6 How many words can you think of that rhyme with bear?	7 Clap out, tap on a drum, or sing your child's name. This introduces them to syllables!	8 Talk about written words wherever you see them - in the grocery, on signs, and more.	9 Draw a picture of yourself.
Organize sensory bins based on the alphabet with a BIG letter on the bin.	Count the steps between your bathroom and your bedroom.	Point out the weather. Is the sun shining or is it a cloudy/rainy/snowy day?	Look at pictures of animals. Ask your child what sound they make.	Sing and dance the reindeer pokey. Use words like hoof and antlers, instead of hands or head.	Be interactive and engage your child with questions as you read.	Trace shapes or letters in a shallow pan of flour, salt, o baking soda.
17 Play language games with puppets. "My name is Mark - what rhymes with Mark?"	18 Find and count five red things in your house.	Read non-fiction books about the child's favorite things - like dinosaurs or flowers.	As you drive in the car, talk about the different sounds you hear.	Ask your child to sing their favorite song to you. Then, sing your favorite song to them.		23 Tear up left over wrapping paper. It helps build your child's hand muscles!
24 Play "I'm thinking of a letter that sounds like mmmmmm (M)."	25 Put together a puzzle with your child.	26 On early winter nights, point out the moon and how it changes.	27 What rhymes with the word "snow"?	28 Sing a song from your child's (or your) favorite musical movie.	29 Read a book about winter or snow.	30 Write a list of things you will do on New Year's Eve or New Year's Day.
